DYING GRACE

Dying grace is the mature believer's experience of physical death under the provision of grace and under the ideal conditions of happiness and blessing. It is the maximum stimulation of the soul in which the individual departs his body in state of supreme happiness.

The dying mature believer in the moment of his death can look back on his life (by maximum utilization of Bible doctrine resident in his soul) with no regrets but with great satisfaction. The mature believer can face eternity with unwavering confidence and awe-inspiring anticipation of meeting the Lord Jesus Christ face to face to receive the surpassing grace blessings of eternity. Dying grace is the ultimate in departure from this life.

There are two sources of blessings in dying grace:

- A. The blessings derived from within the believer's own soul
- B. The blessings directly or indirectly from God who contributes additional blessings (Psalm 33:18-19).

Only the soul filled with Bible doctrine can produce the inner blessings of tranquility, happiness and confidence and at the same time combat the usual panic, dread, and insecurity that accompany dying. These spiritual and inner dynamics are the result of slow but steady process of positive volition toward Bible doctrine on a daily basis.

Dying grace is exclusive for the mature believers because they have reached the point of maximum blessedness through consistent intake of Bible doctrine. It is finale blessing in time, which the mature believer will receive as point of departure for receiving the tremendous blessing of eternity.

The spiritually matured believers are fully adjusted to God's justice through their spiritual maturity. God is free to bless them without compromising any part of his divine essence.

God's righteousness was imputed to every believer at the moment of salvation making them subject of His love. God wants to bless every saint but He cannot until they are adjusted to His justice (Isaiah 30:18). God cannot give blessing to any person if His essence is compromised.

Only the perfect work of the perfect God on the behalf of the human race frees the justice of God to bless, and only the mature believer who has followed the divine plan by adjusting to the justice of God in salvation, in spirituality, and spiritual maturity. Therefore, only the life of the mature believer is filled with blessings, and his death is the greatest of all blessing in time (Psalm 116:15)

Precious in the sight of the Lord
Is the death of His saints.

The dying moment of the spiritually matured believer is highly valuable to God because they are His final opportunity to justify all the doctrine in his soul. It also demonstrates divine approval because the mature believer has glorified God in the angelic conflict and lived a pleasing life before Him. The dying grace is the great moment of pleasure for God to bless the saints.

Since the mature believer is highly valued by God, even his departure from this world is designed for blessing and happiness. Since the mature saint knows that his death is in the hands of God, knowing no matter how he dies, he is perfectly relaxed because God will provide not only all his needs but also special blessings. Dying grace is part of the victory of the Lord Jesus Christ that takes the sting of death (1 Corinthians 15:55-57).

For the mature believer, there is no such thing as tragic death, no matter how violent and terrible the circumstances immediate to his death. Even to a murder victim like Abel (Hebrews 11:4), or executed as criminal like apostle Paul, dying grace still applies. For the mature saint the manner of his physical death will present no problem to him, rather it will stress the importance and power of Bible doctrine in a short period of time more than his lifetime.

God will assist the mature believer across the bridge of time and eternity and there is nothing to fear. The promises of Psalm 23:4 will become reality. The prophet Isaiah was cut in two, while Zechariah was stoned to death yet they have more blessings and more happiness in transferring from time to eternity than they had in a lifetime of spiritual maturity.

The integrity of God decreed your manner of death, and God's perfect justice guarantees all the provision and blessing for that death. You have confidence in the Source of dying grace blessing only through Bible doctrine resident in your soul. Only Bible doctrine stored in the soul has the capacity to replace all fear of death with genuine appreciation for the Lord.

Dying grace includes the capacity to look back on your life without regrets, bitterness, or resentment instead with fulfillment and spiritual satisfaction. At the same time, the mature believer is able to look forward to an eternal, glorious life with the Lord Jesus Christ. A life filled with indescribable blessings and rewards (2 Timothy 4:7-8). Dying grace has five major characteristics:

- No fear of death
- No regrets of life
- No worry for the living
- Certain of God's blessings
- Anticipation of eternal rewards

Dying grace is part of God's Grace plan for every believer. God wants every Christian to advance step to step up the glory road from salvation blessing to eternity blessings. Dying grace is the golden bridge transition of the believer from time to eternity by the way of blessing after blessing. From saving grace to living grace, from living grace to super grace, from super grace to surpassing grace of eternity.

God prolongs your life on this earth after salvation in order to bless you. The justice of God is free to bless you only when you function daily under His divine system. God has provided every thing we need for physical sustenance and spiritual advancement. Christians must avail of these provisions and never worry about their basic needs but advance toward spiritual maturity. Majority of believers are trapped in worrying for their material needs, which the Lord has already resolved (Matthew 6:33).

God is able to bless the mature saints while dying as the final stage of their spiritual sojourn on earth. Dying grace is God's last opportunity to bless the believer on earth and He is going to make blessing superior to anything in life. Dying grace will be better and pleasant than all the wealth, success, promotion and prosperity the believer enjoyed in life. God intends for the last blessing in time to bring you the highest and the greatest thing of life, which opens the greater advantage that waits in eternity.

Dying grace is the advance from the best of life to even better in dying, to the greatest of eternity. It is the wonderful process of promoting the mature believer from the glories of time to the infinite glories of eternity. Death is connected with weakness, but advancing along the spiritual maturity will remove all imperfection, weakness and flaws because under dying grace, you die in strength.
