EVIDENCE SUFFERING

Evidence suffering is the beginning of the final stage of undeserved testing under spiritual maturity. It is divine permission for Satan to cross-examine the mature believer with undeserved sufferings and inflicted for no apparent reason.

Each mature believer is a witness for the prosecution of Satan; therefore Satan has the right of cross –examination. He uses undeserved sufferings in an attempt to break down the mature believer and to force him to abandon divine assets and resources. Evidence testing is divided into two categories:

- Testing in relation to the Plan of Grace
- Testing in relation to the circumstances of life

Both categories will be used to test the mature believer but God alone has the right to decide which category will come first. Each category of evidence testing has three stages and God alone has the prerogative concerning the sequence and succession. The devil is given wider liberty to cross-examine the believer, but God has established the rules and remains in control.

There are two issues under the evidence suffering:

- Will the spiritually mature saint continue to rely on God's given resources and assets?
- Will those resources and assets sustain the believer under the most severe sufferings?

Note that the mature believer is free to advance and utilize all the divine resources and assets inside the divine power system. The privileges exclude failure and defeat because the mature believer has everything needed to win.

There are four challenges of the evidence suffering:

- To appreciate and love God all the more after His logistical grace blessings and blessing in time are taken away by Satan.
- To trust and believe in God with full confidence now matter how unexplainable and terrible the situation maybe.
- To stand firm in the reality of Bible doctrine rather in the human experience since God is more real than any suffering in life.
- To win in the angelic conflict as by using Christ's strategic victory.

Spiritual victory is not possible through human ability and capacity but only through the merits and God's given resources of Christ. The miseries and pains of evidence testing is so severe that the believer is totally handicap without God. Satan will burn every bridge connecting God and the mature believer thinking that the believer will give in. Satan has one solid objective at this point, and that is the defeat of the mature believer and he is going to do everything to achieve that.

Satan will take away the loved ones of the believer. Leaving behind the most potential adversary and persecutor (just like Mrs. Job). The very people he loves will be his most terrible foes. The devil will destroy the believer's human integrity by taking away his wealth, health and everything he values. The only thing Satan cannot take away is his salvation, the Bible doctrine in his soul, and the indwelling Trinity. The believer will be left alone in the world with nobody to turn to, except God. After the evidence suffering, God will become pre-eminent in the life of the believer and he will never again allow anything or anyone to take the place of God.
